

light day

Posted on Jun 09, Posted by Administrator Category The Walk Blog

today just a quick 10.8 miles from Horseshoe Bay down Marine Drive to the RV park...tons of cyclists out today offering words of good luck and encouragement..."Rob" the biker the first of many...many "honks 'n waves' from the motorists...yesterday was modified upwards to 19.8 miles, had I known I would have crawled another point two to hit the magic 20, I suppose I do have a few days ahead of my to do that...balance of the day will be doing the basics to keep the trek going, laundry, errands, etc...tomorrow I do believe will be the first official round of golf for the trip (walk or ride tomorrow, THAT will be the big decision!!!)...another fabulous day here, sun is out, greens are vibrant!!!!...life is good!!!

Tags: Untagged