

Walking Day #122...Boxing Day, Wednesday, December 26, 2012...through Harrison and beyond

Posted on Dec 27, Posted by Administrator Category The Walk Blog

Today was supposed to be cold and snowy. As it turns out snowy was not part of the day and in fact sunny was the order of the day. Cold is was. Good thing the wind was behind me most of the day. We continued down route 65 from Ridgeway to Western Grove. When the day was over we covered 21.1 miles (34.0323 km's) with 44,502 steps. Findings of the day: 1 socket driver, 5 thin dimes, 1 nickel and 16 pennies. In Harrison, Don Langford, gave me a pair of coveralls to wear during the cold weather, Thank You DON for your kindness! At the same garage I had a spirited conversation with a former navy man, Duane Swenson. WHEN ARE WE GOING TO GET TERM LIMITATIONS!?!?!? Reporter, David Holsted interviewed me roadside for the Harrison Daily Times. Tomorrow we move the motor home to either Clinton or Damascus after a short 9-10 mile walking day. Cheers!!!

Tags: Untagged