

Walking Day #140...Monday, January 21, 2013..."I have a dream....."...Martin Luther King, Jr.

Posted on Jan 22, Posted by Administrator Category The Walk Blog

Today I walked to honor Martin Luther King, Jr. A man of vision, a man of substance and a man of peace. Had I been born a few years earlier I would have been down here working on the civil rights movement. A number of years ago I had occasion to visit the King Memorial in Atlanta. If you get the chance I recommend that you go there. It was a very moving experience for me.

When Monday drew to a close I had walked 20.6 miles (33.2258 km's), took 40,303 steps and picked up $0.05 (5 pennies). Today we finished on old highway 80 just a few miles shy of Bolton, MS...see ya'll down the road!

Tags: Untagged