

day #27

Posted on Jul 17, Posted by Administrator Category The Walk Blog

Monday, July 16, 2012...21.6 miles, 42,565 steps, found one penny and one metal spoon...the highlight of the day is when "Mike" stopped to ask what I was doing, he had with him his mother Ann and Aunt Mary...Mike promptly dug into his wallet for a crisp twenty which I informed him would be going to Habitat For Humanity...number one it is the thought that counts and number two it will go to a worthy cause...radios failed again my patience is over, back to the store they go tomorrow...Tuesday will be errand day and Wednesday will be moving day, next walking day will be Thursday...having the radios fail again simply reinforces the requirement for clear communication, not only for this trip but for life in general!!!...cheers & thanks, Mike!!!

Tags: Untagged