

Walking day #63...Monday, October 1, 2012...Hardin to Crow Agency

Posted on Oct 02, Posted by Administrator Category The Walk Blog

today we logged 21.5 miles under 40,531 steps, we stopped today just about 1 1/2 miles outside of Crow Agency on route 212...in the absence of real nasty weather we have 8 more walking days for Montana, about a day and a half of Wyoming and then off to South Dakota...items found today: 1 dime, 2 pennies and a bit for a wood drill...the west frontage road from Hardin to Crow Agency has the unofficial, unscientific distinction of being the most littered road of the walk, thus far...I must say that I am appalled at the callous disregard for common courtesy some people have (in this case a great many) by tossing their trash on the roadside...TAKE SOME PRIDE FOLKS!!!...had the Jeep and the motor home washed yesterday while I sat around like a slug and watched football, good to have the regular fees back...I found the source of the leak in one of the slides, Mr. Rube here found it in twelve seconds, something that two different repair facilities and $5,000 were unable to locate...are people just that stupid or do they just not care!?!?!?...I would lean towards the latter, people do not care about quality anymore...now I just have to figure out a way to fix it before the rain comes Wednesday of Thursday...17 weeks into the walk

Tags: Untagged